

Los Angeles Chargers

Mentor: Paige Crawford

Approximate Start Date: July 20, 2022
8-month program duration

A SNIP fellow would join the LA Chargers Team Dietitian and play an important role in the growth of the sports nutrition department within the organization. The candidate would gain hands-on experience to include but not limited to – menu development, menu analysis, sweat testing, assistance with performance nutrition during practice and games, development of performance nutrition and injury recovery protocols, athlete nutrition management and meal ordering via the notemeal app, as well as team and individual nutrition education. This would be an exciting season to join the LA Chargers as it will be the 3rd season for the team dietitian in building this nutrition program, as well as 2 years from the estimated move to a new facility. The SNIP fellow would have the unique experience of assisting the Team Dietitian in the planning and development that goes into a new training table and culinary set up. The goal of bringing in a SNIP fellow to the Chargers organization is to provide this individual an immersive experience that prepares them for a full-time job in this environment.

Program Details:

- Location: Costa Mesa, CA
- Duration: July 20th 2022 - March 20th 2023, pending changes due to the 2022-2023 schedule

Additional considerations:

- The Chargers organization is interested in providing additional compensation to accommodate the higher cost of living at this site.
- Candidates may be required to have an up-to-date vaccination against COVID-19 and take part in regular COVID-19 testing, pending 2022 protocols.
- Candidates interested in this position will be subject to a background check.
- Candidates must be willing to work long hours and be flexible based on team schedule.
- Gear would be provided, and dress code must be followed.
- Candidate may travel with the team for away games.